Compact Living

Meet Mikkel (39), Nino (33) and their daughter Mira, Living in Aarhus, Denmark
Squaremeters: 48m²

Small Space, with a rich Life:

Mikkel and Nino's Creative Aarhus Home

In the heart of Aarhus, where charming cobblestone streets meet a vibrant cultural scene, Mikkel and Nino have created a home that perfectly balances creativity, practicality, and a love for life's small pleasures. The couple, along with their baby daughter Mira, has embraced the art of small-space living in their cozy city-center apartment.

The life of Aarhus

When asked why they have chosen Aarhus, Mikkel replies. "I love the big-slash-small size of the city," he says, describing the appeal of its intimate streets, lively cultural scene, and a wide selection of bars and restaurants just around the corner. For Nino, born and raised in Georgia, Aarhus has a lot to offer. "It's a very welcoming city," "It was so easy to integrate as a foreigner." She replies.

Prioritizing location over space

Living in the heart of Aarhus comes with its challenges, especially in terms of space. But for Mikkel and Nino, the compromises are worth it. Mikkel, who's accustomed to compact living, finds their small apartment cozy. "For me, moving here wasn't hard," he says. "We prioritized living in the city center, and that meant compromising on space."

Nino nods in agreement, highlighting how their lifestyle choices align with their living situation. "We prioritize experiences over things," she explains. This philosophy allows them to travel frequently, particularly to Georgia to visit Nino's family. "It's important for us to meet often and for them to spend quality time with their granddaughter."

"A sofa bed often mean compromising on looks, Neah's best feature is that it looks and feels like a regular sofa"

Nino and Mira enjoying the family lounge position and comfort of Neah.

Making space work

One essential addition to their home was a sofa bed—a choice that came with some initial hesitation from Mikkel. “For me, sofa beds often mean compromising on looks,” he admits. But Nino insisted, knowing the practicality it would bring to their apartment.

“It was crucial for accommodating visiting family,” she says, adding that this particular sofa bed met both her practical needs and Mikkel’s aesthetic standards.

The sofa has become a centerpiece of their social life. From hosting Nino’s mother for extended stays to welcoming friends from around the globe, their home has become a hub of connection. “I used to travel a lot and therefore I’ve connected with people from everywhere whom are now my friends,” Mikkel shares. “It’s nice to offer them a place to stay, and the sofa bed makes it easy to couch surf.”

Creativity and culture at their doorstep

Both Mikkel and Nino are creative souls, and Aarhus fuels their passions. Mikkel’s guitar hangs proudly on the wall, a testament to his musical interests, while Nino’s love for photography often leads her to local exhibitions. Their neighborhood, with its jazz bars and cozy streets, serves as an endless source of inspiration.

“We love how everything is right outside our doorstep,” Nino says. “From concerts to restaurants, Aarhus offers a perfect blend of culture and community.”

Embracing small-space living

Despite the compromises, Mikkel and Nino have found joy in their compact living situation. “It’s all about balance,” Mikkel explains, reflecting on his freelancing career and the unpredictability it brings. For now, their small, thoughtfully arranged home allows them to enjoy life in one of Denmark’s most charming cities without overstretching their resources.

With Mira giggling in the background and sunlight streaming through their apartment windows, it’s clear that this family has mastered the art of making the most of what they have. Aarhus isn’t just where they live—it’s where they thrive.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONSIDERATIONS

Give back to nature

To support the balance of the global ecosystem, Innovation Living plants over 10,000 new trees annually to offset our wood consumption.

Detachable covers

Recognizing the clear advantages, an increasing portion of our collection features detachable and washable covers. The sofas marked with the “Detachable covers” symbol are designed for easy maintenance, with covers that can be machine washed at 30 degrees Celsius. Additionally, upholstery can be replaced when worn or simply to refresh the sofa’s appearance. This approach allows you to update your sofa without the need for a full replacement, significantly reducing environmental impact.

Products available with detachable covers:

Aslak, Balder, Colpus, Fraction, Idun, Junus, Lomira, Minimum, Newilla, Newilla with lounger, Pauke, Puri, Rollo, Soft Peak, Trym and Yonata.

Look for the detachable covers icon in the Collection overview and specifications section pages 142-161.

Fabrics

For designs where removable covers are not feasible, fabric durability and ease of cleaning are essential to ensuring long-lasting quality. To enhance resilience, all fabrics are crafted to be highly durable and are further reinforced with backing materials. All fabrics, except Faunal and Silvershine, are engineered to withstand washing at 30 degrees Celsius, enabling effective wet cleaning. Additionally, all fabrics meet the OEKO-TEX® Standard 100 certification, guaranteeing they are free from harmful substances.

Recycled fabrics

The availability of fabrics made from recycled fibers is steadily growing, and we are continually exploring the innovative and exciting new options. We encourage you to take a look at our Bouclé and Esina fabric selections for recycled options — details can be found on pages 162-163

Lower CO₂ footprint

Since 1989, all our products have been designed for flat packing, which minimizes CO₂ emissions during transportation and storage. We continuously work to reduce the environmental impact of our activities, and you can read more about our specific initiatives on our website. Although we are not CO₂ neutral, we are committed to minimizing our CO₂ footprint.

Maintain and refresh

Designing for flat packing involves creating a set of components that can be easily assembled into a complete product. While the complexity and number of parts may differ between products, this design approach enables straightforward replacement of individual components. This not only extends the product’s life cycle—by allowing for the replacement of worn-out parts or updating its appearance—but also supports sustainability and practicality.

Disassembly and recycling

Our design process prioritizes the disassembly of products and materials at the end of their life cycle. We thoughtfully select materials, determine optimal methods for combining them, and try to ensure they can be separated into individual components for recycling. Each design poses unique challenges, with some being more conducive to disassembly than others. Nevertheless, moving in a more sustainable direction remains an important part of our design philosophy, and the environmental impact is carefully considered in every product we create.

Certified production facilities

We are committed to supporting the development of local communities, contributing to a better future in the regions where we operate. To ensure continuous improvement, our production facilities are regularly audited to verify compliance with our group values and adherence to established working conditions, as outlined by third-party standards like the amfori BSCI Code of Conduct. Furthermore, our production facilities follow amfori BEPI standards and are FSC®-certified, reflecting our dedication to responsible and sustainable practices.
